

DANISH FOR MEDICAL DOCTORS FROM ABROAD

SPROGCENTER
HELLERUP

- Are you trained as a medical doctor in your home country?
- Do you want to use your education in Denmark?
- Would you like to participate in a targeted intensive Danish course?

In cooperation with Gentofte Hospital, Hellerup Language School offers a Danish course for foreign medical doctors.

Goal

The objective of the course is to teach you Danish professional medical terminology and thereby improve your chances for obtaining permanent authorisation and employment as a medical doctor in Denmark. The course prepares you for working in the health sector in Denmark and for taking the formal medical authorisation exams conducted by the National Board of Health.

The course

The course comprises Danish lessons, practical work at hospital departments and theoretical training in medical disciplines. The course is taught by teachers of Hellerup Language School and includes Danish language material as well as medical texts and articles, etc.

The medical terminology and doctor-patient communication is taught by Danish medical doctors. Medical and other health sector-related disciplines (e.g. social medicine, medical law) and professional topics such as urology, neurology, etc. are equally taught by medical doctors as well as representatives from the health sector. You should expect a fair amount of homework, not only in connection with your Danish lessons but also with respect to the professional disciplines.

Requirements

To qualify for the medical Danish course, you must have already passed Danish 3, module 3, and submitted your diplomas to the National Board of Health (Sundhedsstyrelsen).

Duration

The course is based on your specific background and needs, and usually takes about 26 weeks. You can enrol at any time, and the course concludes with the Danish language exam 'Prøve i Dansk 3' and an exam in medical terminology.

"I learned about Danish for medical doctors through a friend of mine, who had been very satisfied with the course. My personal experience with the course has been just as good.

All the students are medical doctors and you also get to meet many skilled medical doctors from Denmark, younger as well as more experienced doctors.

Furthermore, you get a lot of relevant information about the Danish labour market, job situation and work ethics in Denmark.

Not only have I met a lot of skilled medical doctors, with whom I have become friends. I have also received thorough and relevant training from our teachers who, in my opinion, are among the best you can get"

Zunaira Gul, Medical Doctor (M.D) from Pakistan

Location

The course is taught at Gentofte Hospital in Hellerup and at Hellerup Language School.
